

COLORADO COLLEGE
1 8 7 4

OFFICE OF STUDENT LIFE

Welcome to another year at Colorado College!

I am pleased to provide you with this copy of your student handbook, The Pathfinder. Contained within are descriptions of an array of student life resources and opportunities which will complement your academic education. Students who benefit the most from their time here, who are most satisfied, and who learn the most are those who involve themselves in the college's opportunities, programs, and classes to the fullest extent. Carpe diem! I encourage you to become an active member of the Colorado College community, whether that means participating in a familiar activity or trying something new. The menu of choices is wide; you are sure to find something appealing.

This handbook also outlines the policies of Colorado College, which affect both curricular and co-curricular activities. These have been developed through careful consideration and in consultation with students, faculty and staff, and trustees. Please familiarize yourself with these policies and consider this handbook your first reference when you have a policy question. If you do not find the answer here, the student life office and other college offices stand ready to assist you. I will also welcome your critiques and constructive ideas regarding possible policy revisions.

I look forward to meeting you and hearing your suggestions about how to make the Colorado College community—our community—the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mike L. Edmonds
Dean of Students