

Diversity

The Discovery Wheel

Never
TrueSometimes
TrueAlways
True

Read each statement below. Then, using the slide bars, indicate to what extent each statement is true.

I am aware of my biases and am open to understanding people from other cultures, races, and

I build rewarding relationships with people from other backgrounds.

I can point out examples of discrimination and sexual harassment and effectively respond to them.

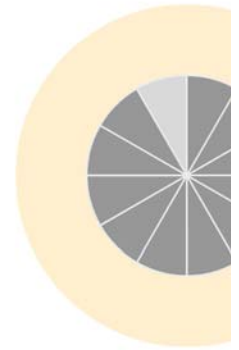

I am learning ways to thrive with diversity--attitudes and behaviors that will support my career success.

I can effectively resolve conflict with people from other cultures.

My writing and speaking are free of sexist expressions.

I can recognize bias and discrimination in the media.

I am aware of the changing demographics in my country and community.

Back

Copyright © Houghton Mifflin Company