Dear Mr. Chung and Mr. Cohn,

Thank you for bringing to our attention your concerns regarding use of the University name in student organization social media addresses and website urls. This has given us an opportunity to think critically about our policy and has helped us clarify our practice moving forward.

We have concluded that use of the University name in a social media page address or url is consistent with our practice of allowing use of the name to designate location (e.g., Ayn Rand Society at UC Davis). We do ask any registered student organization with content on its site that could confuse readers on whether the organization is part of the University rather than a student club to post information on the site to clearly articulate that the organization is a student club at UC Davis, not a program or department of the university. An example disclaimer that student organizations are welcome to use for this purpose can be found at <https://csi.ucdavis.edu/find-a-student-org/>.

As student organization registration for 2015-2016 began on May 1, Ayn Rand Society at UC Davis may submit a registration renewal at any time at <https://csi.ucdavis.edu/student-organizations/register-your-student-organization/>. Your 2014-2015 registration expired on June 30. Space reservations for Fall 2015 weekly meetings will be accepted beginning September 21. To insure access in CES to make reservations, we recommend that your renewal be submitted no later than August 31. When your renewal is approved, it will take 7-10 days for your agency account to be activated and an additional 24 hours to be entered into the CES reservation system. Your account has a sufficient balance to pay the $35 annual account fee.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Best regards,
