

From: Lieben, Alexandra
To: Raustiala, Kai
Subject: FW: Feb. 26 - UCLA event
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 6:04:02 PM

Here is the summary of my most recent conversation with Tony Sayegh, the Assistant Secretary for Public Affairs of the US Department of the Treasury. As you can see, this restates and confirms the agreement with had with them to podcast and videotape the lecture.

I sent him this email as record of our conversation and he never objected to any of it. Prior to that, I had conversations about this with Zach Isakowitz and with James Littlefair, both staff members of Secretary Mnuchin's office.

Alexandra

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

p: (310)206-4071
f: (310)206-3555
alieben@international.ucla.edu
www.international.ucla.edu/burkle

From: Alexandra Lieben <alieben@international.ucla.edu>
Date: Tuesday, February 6, 2018 at 5:45 PM
To: "Tony.Sayegh@treasury.gov" <Tony.Sayegh@treasury.gov>
Cc: "Wrench, Sophia" <swrench@international.ucla.edu>, "Zachary.Isakowitz@treasury.gov" <Zachary.Isakowitz@treasury.gov>
Subject: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Hi Tony,

It was great talking with you earlier today.

To summarize what we discussed and then confirmed again before we signed off, you are okay with the Burkle Center and Marketplace audiotaping and with the Burkle Center videotaping the event. We will post both podcast and video on our Burkle Center website. Marketplace will use excerpts of the event in their show the following day and, like we do, will post the audio of the entire event on their website. We agreed to shorten the interview with The Generation, our student magazine, from 20 to 15 minutes. We also agreed to shorten Secretary Mnuchin's introductory remarks from 15 to 5-10 minutes, as well as to shorten the conversation with Kai Ryssdal from 35 to 30 minutes. And we will leave the Q&A with the audience at 25 minutes. Thank you for agreeing to the intern photo at the end of the lecture. That only takes a few minutes and makes them very happy.

As explained, since the dinner at Mr. Burkle's house will be in his dining room, the best possible place for a meaningful and intimate conversation, the format will be rather informal there as well. It would be wonderful if Secretary Mnuchin, after Burkle Center Kal Raustiala's welcome, could start the conversation off with about 5 min. of solo remarks. Then Kal will ask one or two questions to get the conversation around the table started. There will be probably about 20 people present.

As you and I discussed, the easiest way for Kai Ryssdal to get a better understanding of what Secretary Mnuchin will cover in his introductory remarks at UCLA, will be for Mr. Ryssdal or his executive producer Nancy Farghalli to speak with you directly. I will e-introduce you to Nancy after this email.

We are truly excited and are very much looking forward to welcoming Secretary Mnuchin to UCLA!

Best,
Alexandra

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

11353 Bunche Hall
Los Angeles, CA 90095
P: (310) 206-4071
www.burkle.ucla.edu

From: Raustiala, Kal
To: Lieben, Alexandra
Subject: Re: Feb. 26 - UCLA event
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 6:13:55 PM

I think this only applies to gov officials, and you didn't do anything wrong—no one anticipated this-- but for Schiff for example we should either ask them "Do we have your permission to video..." OR send them a release to sign. Or otherwise eliminate the opportunity for them to post hoc lie and say, we never agreed to that.

From: alexandra lieben
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 at 6:11 PM
To: Kal Raustiala
Subject: Re: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

His media person said affirmatively yes and I confirmed it in writing. What else would you have wanted me to do?

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

p: (310)206-4071
f: (310)206-3555
alieben@international.ucla.edu
www.international.ucla.edu/burkle

From: Kal Raustiala <raustiala@law.ucla.edu>
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 at 6:06 PM
To: Alexandra Lieben <alieben@international.ucla.edu>
Subject: Re: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Great. I think in the future with sitting gov officials we probably want them to affirmatively say yes or something to that effect. But this is good.

From: alexandra lieben
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 at 6:03 PM
To: Kal Raustiala
Subject: FW: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Here is the summary of my most recent conversation with Tony Sayegh, the Assistant Secretary for Public Affairs of the US Department of the Treasury. As you can see, this restates and confirms the agreement with had with them to podcast and videotape the lecture.

I sent him this email as record of our conversation and he never objected to any of it. Prior to that, I had conversations about this with Zach Isakowitz and with James Littlefair, both staff members of Secretary Mnuchin's office.

Alexandra

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

p: (310)206-4071

f: (310)206-3555

alieben@international.ucla.edu

www.international.ucla.edu/burkle

From: Alexandra Lieben <alieben@international.ucla.edu>

Date: Tuesday, February 6, 2018 at 5:45 PM

To: "Tony.Sayegh@treasury.gov" <Tony.Sayegh@treasury.gov>

Cc: "Wrench, Sophia" <swrench@international.ucla.edu>, "Zachary.Isakowitz@treasury.gov" <Zachary.Isakowitz@treasury.gov>

Subject: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Hi Tony,

It was great talking with you earlier today.

To summarize what we discussed and then confirmed again before we signed off, you are okay with the Burkle Center and Marketplace audiotaping and with the Burkle Center videotaping the event. We will post both podcast and video on our Burkle Center website. Marketplace will use excerpts of the event in their show the following day and, like we do, will post the audio of the entire event on their website. We agreed to shorten the interview with The Generation, our student magazine, from 20 to 15 minutes. We also agreed to shorten Secretary Mnuchin's introductory remarks from 15 to 5-10 minutes, as well as to shorten the conversation with Kai Ryssdal from 35 to 30 minutes. And we will leave the Q&A with the audience at 25 minutes. Thank you for agreeing to the intern photo at the end of the lecture. That only takes a few minutes and makes them very happy.

As explained, since the dinner at Mr. Burkle's house will be in his dining room, the best possible place for a meaningful and intimate conversation, the format will be rather informal there as well. It would be wonderful if Secretary Mnuchin, after Burkle Center Kal Raustiala's welcome, could start the conversation off with about 5 min. of solo remarks. Then Kal will ask one or two questions to get the conversation around the table started. There will be probably about 20 people present.

As you and I discussed, the easiest way for Kai Ryssdal to get a better understanding of what Secretary Mnuchin will cover in his introductory remarks at UCLA, will be for Mr. Ryssdal or his executive producer Nancy Farghalli to speak with you directly. I will e-introduce you to Nancy after this email.

We are truly excited and are very much looking forward to welcoming Secretary Mnuchin to UCLA!

Best,
Alexandra

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

11353 Bunche Hall
Los Angeles, CA 90095
P: (310) 206-4071
www.burkle.ucla.edu

From: Lieben, Alexandra
To: Raustiala, Kal
Subject: Re: Feb. 26 - UCLA event
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 6:11:58 PM

His media person said affirmatively yes and I confirmed it in writing. What else would you have wanted me to do?

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

p: (310)206-4071
f: (310)206-3555
alieben@international.ucla.edu
www.international.ucla.edu/burkle

From: Kal Raustiala <raustiala@law.ucla.edu>
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 at 6:06 PM
To: Alexandra Lieben <alieben@international.ucla.edu>
Subject: Re: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Great. I think in the future with sitting gov officials we probably want them to affirmatively say yes or something to that effect. But this is good.

From: alexandra lieben
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 at 6:03 PM
To: Kal Raustiala
Subject: FW: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Here is the summary of my most recent conversation with Tony Sayegh, the Assistant Secretary for Public Affairs of the US Department of the Treasury. As you can see, this restates and confirms the agreement with had with them to podcast and videotape the lecture.

I sent him this email as record of our conversation and he never objected to any of it. Prior to that, I had conversations about this with Zach Isakowitz and with James Littlefair, both staff members of Secretary Mnuchin's office.

Alexandra

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

p: (310)206-4071
f: (310)206-3555

alieben@international.ucla.edu
www.international.ucla.edu/burkle

From: Alexandra Lieben <alieben@international.ucla.edu>
Date: Tuesday, February 6, 2018 at 5:45 PM
To: "Tony.Sayegh@treasury.gov" <Tony.Sayegh@treasury.gov>
Cc: "Wrench, Sophia" <swrench@international.ucla.edu>, "Zachary.Isakowitz@treasury.gov" <Zachary.Isakowitz@treasury.gov>
Subject: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Hi Tony,

It was great talking with you earlier today.

To summarize what we discussed and then confirmed again before we signed off, you are okay with the Burkle Center and Marketplace audiotaping and with the Burkle Center videotaping the event. We will post both podcast and video on our Burkle Center website. Marketplace will use excerpts of the event in their show the following day and, like we do, will post the audio of the entire event on their website. We agreed to shorten the interview with The Generation, our student magazine, from 20 to 15 minutes. We also agreed to shorten Secretary Mnuchin's introductory remarks from 15 to 5-10 minutes, as well as to shorten the conversation with Kai Ryssdal from 35 to 30 minutes. And we will leave the Q&A with the audience at 25 minutes. Thank you for agreeing to the intern photo at the end of the lecture. That only takes a few minutes and makes them very happy.

As explained, since the dinner at Mr. Burkle's house will be in his dining room, the best possible place for a meaningful and intimate conversation, the format will be rather informal there as well. It would be wonderful if Secretary Mnuchin, after Burkle Center Kal Raustiala's welcome, could start the conversation off with about 5 min. of solo remarks. Then Kal will ask one or two questions to get the conversation around the table started. There will be probably about 20 people present.

As you and I discussed, the easiest way for Kai Ryssdal to get a better understanding of what Secretary Mnuchin will cover in his introductory remarks at UCLA, will be for Mr. Ryssdal or his executive producer Nancy Farghalli to speak with you directly. I will e-introduce you to Nancy after this email.

We are truly excited and are very much looking forward to welcoming Secretary Mnuchin to UCLA!

Best,
Alexandra

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

11353 Bunche Hall

Los Angeles, CA 90095

P: (310) 206-4071

www.burkle.ucla.edu

From: Raustiala, Kal
To: Lieben, Alexandra
Subject: Re: Feb. 26 - UCLA event
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 6:06:05 PM

Great. I think in the future with sitting gov officials we probably want them to affirmatively say yes or something to that effect. But this is good.

From: alexandra lieben
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 at 6:03 PM
To: Kal Raustiala
Subject: FW: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Here is the summary of my most recent conversation with Tony Sayegh, the Assistant Secretary for Public Affairs of the US Department of the Treasury. As you can see, this restates and confirms the agreement with had with them to podcast and videotape the lecture.

I sent him this email as record of our conversation and he never objected to any of it. Prior to that, I had conversations about this with Zach Isakowitz and with James Littlefair, both staff members of Secretary Mnuchin's office.

Alexandra

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

p: (310)206-4071
f: (310)206-3555
alieben@international.ucla.edu
www.international.ucla.edu/burkle

From: Alexandra Lieben <alieben@international.ucla.edu>
Date: Tuesday, February 6, 2018 at 5:45 PM
To: "Tony.Sayegh@treasury.gov" <Tony.Sayegh@treasury.gov>
Cc: "Wrench, Sophia" <swrench@international.ucla.edu>, "Zachary.Isakowitz@treasury.gov" <Zachary.Isakowitz@treasury.gov>
Subject: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Hi Tony,

It was great talking with you earlier today.

To summarize what we discussed and then confirmed again before we signed off, you are okay with the Burkle Center and Marketplace audiotaping and with the Burkle Center videotaping the event. We will post both podcast and video on our Burkle Center website.

Marketplace will use excerpts of the event in their show the following day and, like we do, will post the audio of the entire event on their website. We agreed to shorten the interview with The Generation, our student magazine, from 20 to 15 minutes. We also agreed to shorten Secretary Mnuchin's introductory remarks from 15 to 5-10 minutes, as well as to shorten the conversation with Kai Ryssdal from 35 to 30 minutes. And we will leave the Q&A with the audience at 25 minutes. Thank you for agreeing to the intern photo at the end of the lecture. That only takes a few minutes and makes them very happy.

As explained, since the dinner at Mr. Burkle's house will be in his dining room, the best possible place for a meaningful and intimate conversation, the format will be rather informal there as well. It would be wonderful if Secretary Mnuchin, after Burkle Center Kal Raustiala's welcome, could start the conversation off with about 5 min. of solo remarks. Then Kal will ask one or two questions to get the conversation around the table started. There will be probably about 20 people present.

As you and I discussed, the easiest way for Kai Ryssdal to get a better understanding of what Secretary Mnuchin will cover in his introductory remarks at UCLA, will be for Mr. Ryssdal or his executive producer Nancy Farghalli to speak with you directly. I will e-introduce you to Nancy after this email.

We are truly excited and are very much looking forward to welcoming Secretary Mnuchin to UCLA!

Best,
Alexandra

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

11353 Bunche Hall
Los Angeles, CA 90095
P: (310) 206-4071
www.burkle.ucla.edu

From: Lieben, Alexandra
To: Raustiala, Kal
Subject: Re: Feb. 26 - UCLA event
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 6:16:03 PM

Okay.

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

p: (310)206-4071
f: (310)206-3555
alieben@international.ucla.edu
www.international.ucla.edu/burkle

From: Kal Raustiala <raustiala@law.ucla.edu>
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 at 6:14 PM
To: Alexandra Lieben <alieben@international.ucla.edu>
Subject: Re: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

I think this only applies to gov officials, and you didn't do anything wrong—no one anticipated this-- but for Schiff for example we should either ask them "Do we have your permission to video..." OR send them a release to sign. Or otherwise eliminate the opportunity for them to post hoc lie and say, we never agreed to that.

From: alexandra lieben
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 at 6:11 PM
To: Kal Raustiala
Subject: Re: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

His media person said affirmatively yes and I confirmed it in writing. What else would you have wanted me to do?

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

p: (310)206-4071
f: (310)206-3555
alieben@international.ucla.edu
www.international.ucla.edu/burkle

From: Kal Raustiala <raustiala@law.ucla.edu>

Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 at 6:06 PM
To: Alexandra Lieben <alieben@international.ucla.edu>
Subject: Re: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Great. I think in the future with sitting gov officials we probably want them to affirmatively say yes or something to that effect. But this is good.

From: alexandra lieben
Date: Wednesday, February 28, 2018 at 6:03 PM
To: Kal Raustiala
Subject: FW: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Here is the summary of my most recent conversation with Tony Sayegh, the Assistant Secretary for Public Affairs of the US Department of the Treasury. As you can see, this restates and confirms the agreement with had with them to podcast and videotape the lecture.

I sent him this email as record of our conversation and he never objected to any of it. Prior to that, I had conversations about this with Zach Isakowitz and with James Littlefair, both staff members of Secretary Mnuchin's office.

Alexandra

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

p: (310)206-4071
f: (310)206-3555
alieben@international.ucla.edu
www.international.ucla.edu/burkle

From: Alexandra Lieben <alieben@international.ucla.edu>
Date: Tuesday, February 6, 2018 at 5:45 PM
To: "Tony.Sayegh@treasury.gov" <Tony.Sayegh@treasury.gov>
Cc: "Wrench, Sophia" <swrench@international.ucla.edu>, "Zachary.Isakowitz@treasury.gov" <Zachary.Isakowitz@treasury.gov>
Subject: Feb. 26 - UCLA event

Hi Tony,

It was great talking with you earlier today.

To summarize what we discussed and then confirmed again before we signed off, you are okay with the Burkle Center and Marketplace audiotaping and with the Burkle Center videotaping the event. We will post both podcast and video on our Burkle Center website.

Marketplace will use excerpts of the event in their show the following day and, like we do, will post the audio of the entire event on their website. We agreed to shorten the interview with The Generation, our student magazine, from 20 to 15 minutes. We also agreed to shorten Secretary Mnuchin's introductory remarks from 15 to 5-10 minutes, as well as to shorten the conversation with Kai Ryssdal from 35 to 30 minutes. And we will leave the Q&A with the audience at 25 minutes. Thank you for agreeing to the intern photo at the end of the lecture. That only takes a few minutes and makes them very happy.

As explained, since the dinner at Mr. Burkle's house will be in his dining room, the best possible place for a meaningful and intimate conversation, the format will be rather informal there as well. It would be wonderful if Secretary Mnuchin, after Burkle Center Kal Raustiala's welcome, could start the conversation off with about 5 min. of solo remarks. Then Kal will ask one or two questions to get the conversation around the table started. There will be probably about 20 people present.

As you and I discussed, the easiest way for Kai Ryssdal to get a better understanding of what Secretary Mnuchin will cover in his introductory remarks at UCLA, will be for Mr. Ryssdal or his executive producer Nancy Farghalli to speak with you directly. I will e-introduce you to Nancy after this email.

We are truly excited and are very much looking forward to welcoming Secretary Mnuchin to UCLA!

Best,
Alexandra

Alexandra Lieben
Deputy Director
UCLA Burkle Center for International Relations

11353 Bunche Hall
Los Angeles, CA 90095
P: (310) 206-4071
www.burkle.ucla.edu